AXIADO

Axiado is an AI-first company redefining platform security, system efficiency, and infrastructure management at the silicon level. Its Trusted Control/Compute Unit (TCU) combines trusted hardware with autonomous AI agents to protect and optimize systems in real time, enabling secure, efficient, self-managing infrastructure for AI data centers.

infabrica is redefining networking silicon to be more performant, scalable, and flexible. Their AI and accelerated TCF superchip enable a paradigm shift in routers, switches, and memories to support multi-Terabit pipes for the data center.

LUMOTIVE

Lumotive is pioneering the era of programmable optics – where light is controlled as intelligently and flexibly as software. Their patented Light Control Metasurface (LCM™) transforms photonics into a digital platform, unlocking breakthroughs in sensing, optical switching, and communication – redefining what's possible in the optical age.

n-eye

n-eye.ai is a next-generation optical switch company poised to solve challenges facing the growth and adoption of AI/ML – the excessive costs of power requirements and network expansion. Their programmable photonic integrated circuit integrates high-radix OCS on a Si chip and is a future-proof solution for AI/ML systems and other HPC environments.
